

Who is Verity?

We bank on values, focused on prosperity for people and planet. So you can dream boldly, and feel good about how you'll get there. That's how we help create vibrancy for our members and communities. You won't find us on every corner, but we're always in yours, delivering simple, truthful financial services to help you live vibrantly.

What is banking on values? We believe that a financial institution can do good. When you choose Verity, you are ensuring that your money makes a positive impact in your community. We also believe in people before profits and work to create a positive impact in our members' lives.

Join 30,000 others who have selected Verity as their values-based credit union and see the difference and our dedication to people, planet and prosperity.

What is a credit union?

A credit union offers the same products and services as a bank but credit unions are member-owned. That means that our profits directly benefit our members, not some corporate shareholders.

Since credit unions are not for profit, all members of our board are member-owners, just like you. They volunteer their time to help guide our decision-making and ensure we are doing what is best for the membership.

Credit unions also treat all of their members equally. Whether you have $10 or $10,000 to your name, you are a valued member of the Verity Credit Union community.
